Features

Let's Find Liveliness in the City Center !

Inquiries: Commerce and Industry Promotion Division, ☎055-934-4748

Numazu has been the commercial center of eastern Shizuoka. However, after a department store withdrew from Numazu and vacant stores have been increasing in number, the city center has been economically depressed. Now, many people are working on the vitalization of commercial activities in the city center. We'll feature some events they organize.

Numazu Pan Marche

Numazu Pan Marche produced by mothers' group in eastern Shizuoka "Childcare Support Ichigo" and young managers' group "Numazu Omachi Saisei Kenkyu Kai" started last autumn. The event, where a variety of popular bread in Numazu was sold, had customers lined up.

It puts more importance on interregional exchange, so the events often include markets of local products, a festival of high school students and the performance of performers from Numazu.

Tour around 100 Treasure Troves in Numazu NO.41: NUMAZU HEIGAKKO (Numazu Military Academy) ~Pioneering School of Japan's Modern Education~

<Nishi Amane, the first president of the academy >

<Numazu Military Academy Memorial Monument

(the premises of Shiro-oka Shrine in Ote-machi)>

Numazu Military Academy was a school to provide education for those who wanted to become army officers, which was established within the old Numazu Castle (vicinity of the present Ote-machi) in 1868 (the first year of Meiji Era) by Tokugawa Family, which had moved to Su-n-pu area following Meiji Restoration. The first president of the academy was Nishi Amane, and the school succeeded to the heritage of the Western lines which the Edo Bakufu (shogunate) had promoted during the last period of the Edo Era. Numazu Military Academy gained a good reputation for its most advanced education at that time, so it caught the new Meiji government and other clans' attention as well. Many students came from all over Japan to study there. Later, the school was closed in 1872 (Meiji 5) after 'the abolition of clans and establishment of prefectures' and the transference of its control to the new Meiji government. However, during these five years, Numazu Military Academy produced a large number of talented people and made a great contribution to Japan's modernization. Also the elementary school attached to the military academy, which was opened at the same time as the academy, has been regarded as Japan's first modern elementary school, because it also provided the most advanced education at that time according to its educational content and system. At present, Shiritsu (municipal) Dai-ichi elementary school succeeds to the history passed down for over 140 years.
